June has been a coordinator for six years with Aberdeenshire Council. She works full-time and is responsible for road safety education and training within all sectors of the community. Her remit includes the coordination of Bikeability Scotland, involving 150 primary schools in Aberdeenshire that have a very high uptake of Level 2 training. Most of this training takes place during the school day and is on-road, despite having a lot of rural schools. June has been involved in road safety for the last 28 years and has taught some of the teachers in the schools she now visits. June is a qualified Cycle Trainer, Cycle Trainer plus, Cycle Ride Leader and a mentor.

Earliest memory of cycling?

Learning to ride a bike myself without stabilisers.

What would you say to a school thinking about participating in Bikeability Scotland?

I fully encourage all schools to become involved in Bikeability Scotland and all the benefits associated with the programme. There are numerous benefits to pupils and teachers alike and it's a skill for life.

Best Bikeability Scotland moment?

Seeing the numbers of on-road Bikeability Scotland training sessions increase year on year.

Most likely to be heard saying....

"Remember your final check."
